

MR. BLAINE'S LETTER.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY ABOUT IT.

THE VALUE OF ITS CONSERVATISM.

From The Albany Evening Post (Rep.).

Some of Mr. Blaine's letters are frank and may, perhaps, be disposed to get the sense of the writer. It has the weight and suggestive style of his addresses before Congress. Yet the conservative, deliberate and chosen and ideas suggested in them are those of Mr. Blaine's whole letter for the President.

MORE THAN CLEVELAND CAN MATCH.

From The Western Times (Dem.).

Mr. Blaine's letter events around his candidacy a bulk of strength which it is difficult to estimate, and which Mr. Cleveland's supporters have turned to the arts of political diplomacy, will find it difficult to overcome.

GOOD PROOF OF BLAINE'S EXPERIENCE.

From The Birmingham Republican (Rep.).

Mr. Blaine's letter events around his candidacy a bulk of strength which it is difficult to estimate, and which Mr. Cleveland's supporters have turned to the arts of political diplomacy, will find it difficult to overcome.

HIS AMERICAN POLICY NOT NEW.

From The Lowell Daily Journal (Rep.).

What he has to say on foreign policy, especially in relation to the South American States, is in full accordance with the American policy of the last 20 years. In his letter of 1882, lately published in the Advocate, he says: "The South American States are the natural allies of the United States, and there is no good reason why the products of the thousand labor and capital of the United States should not be purchased in the ever-welcoming ports of South America."

II. RAILROAD DEMOCRATIC CRITICISM.

From The New-York Evening Post (Rep.).

It is a remarkably interesting document, which presents matters which come home to every man, and does this in such a way that the judgment of the reader is held to keep abreast with the times can afford to leave nothing. It presents cogent reasons drawn from indisputable facts. It does not draw conclusions, for its production could do that, but examination of the hostile comment of the Cleveland papers shows that it baffles criticism.

THE ONLY THING THAT CAN SURPASS IT.

From The Pittsburg Post (Rep.).

It is the most important document given to the public by a candidate for the Presidency of the United States. It will not be surpassed until James A. Blaine writes me magnificently as President of the United States.

GOOD CAMPAIGN AMMUNITION.

From The Atlantic City Journal (Ind.).

Mr. Blaine, as usual, has succeeded in putting himself and his cause in the best light before the people. He has supplied his party with considerable effective ammunition.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE TO THE FRONT.

From The Syracuse Standard (Rep.).

The powerful exposition of the tariff and the policies for a larger marine and commercial empire of the Nation's ally and its citizens everywhere in their rights and interests of all nations from the Atlantic to the Pacific, the decision in favor of the preservation of the Union, the defense of our country, and the government domain for our own people, all these are well known and well understood, while it contains not a word to justify the fear that it authorizes, if it does not adopt a lecturing course toward neighboring countries and show that the American people, in uniting American ideas to the world, have given attention to American resources and a fuller development of American resources have been resolved upon.

A BRIEF IMPORTED TO THE REPUBLICANS.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

It will remove all fear of false impressions from the minds of those who mean to be impressed. It will attract recruits to the Republican standard; and it will give the campaign a decided edge over the Democratic.

THE WORKINGMAN'S HEART TOUCHED.

From The Washington Daily Republican (Rep.).

In advocating fair wages he goes right home to the heart of every workingman, and he opposes a reduction of wages for laborers employed upon the roads, depriving the labor market of the world, depriving the laborer of the power to live in honor, to rear his children and lay by a sum for his old age.

THE TARIFF ISSUE CAN'T BE DODGED.

From The Atlanta Constitution (Rep.).

The main portion of the speech devoted to the tariff question, it would seem, is that the Republican candidate intends to make at the leading issue of the campaign. That it would become such regardless of what the Democratic or other candidates do, the paper will be read to the end.

PRINCIPLES ARRIVED, NOT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

Once more we are compelled to fight for the preservation of the system under which American industry has prospered to a phenomenal degree. An argument which will be of great service in guiding the voters of the Republic to a sound conclusion, and we may be assured that the assailants of the country's stability will be overthrown.

A TOUGH NET TO BACK.

From The Pittsburg Post (Rep.).

Blaine's letter of acceptance is a great file for the Democrats to gaw at.

THE REV. DR. DE COSTA RECTOR OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

From The Evangelical Church, Eleventh-st. and Waverley-Place.

He preached yesterday morning on "The Latest Arctic Lesson." "At the end of two thousand years," he said in substance, "man is still shut out from the regions of the North Pole, and the world regards what it terms another failure, in the energy and courage which has devoted him life to this work. The almost unanimous voice of the press is raised in the cry to abandon and end, and the city ordinances allow them to charge $1 for a trip, no matter how short. Our clubs were formed to help the poor, and our services and, if not treated properly, will know where to apply for redress. Note also that all of our cabs bear the full name of our company—New-York Cab Company. Limited—around the crest of crown and three feathers, and our rates are painted inside the cab in plain letters. Their top drivers are uniformed and the uniform cost with the uniform, and the letters are on the shoulders. The bogus cabs have no organization and there is no redress, if they charge double the company's rates, as the city ordinances allow them to charge $1 for a trip, no matter how short. Our clubs were formed to help the poor, and our services and, if not treated properly, will know where to apply for redress.

THE WORKINGMAN'S HEART TOUCHED.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

It is from the heart of a statesman who knows the people and who would have done his best which should be done for their real and lasting good.

NO BETTER THAN THE PLATFORM.

From The Pittsburg Post (Rep.).

There is no attempt to improve upon the platform—which we put a little veneer of varnish over the naked pieces.

NOT A MEER FIGHT FOR VOTES.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

It is not a mere fight for votes, but a document which no one but a great statesman could have written, and which will be quoted as a standard of political documents, and which will be read and studied by all the world.

NO VERBAL FIREWORKS IN THE HOUSE.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

Mr. Blaine's letter of acceptance will disappoint no one in his enemies. It is as safe and progressive as a document can be, and even the most conservative critics will admit that a great statesman could have written, and which will be quoted as a standard of political documents, and which will be read and studied by all the world.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

THE FAILURE OF CONTINENTAL AMERICA.

From The Pittsburg Post (Rep.).

Mr. Blaine's letter of acceptance will disappoint no one in his enemies. It is as safe and progressive as a document can be, and even the most conservative critics will admit that a great statesman could have written, and which will be quoted as a standard of political documents, and which will be read and studied by all the world.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

FROM A STATESMAN'S HEART.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

It is from the heart of a statesman who knows the people and who would have done his best which should be done for their real and lasting good.

THE REV. DR. DE COSTA RECTOR OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

From The Evangelical Church, Eleventh-st. and Waverley-Place.

He gave a sermon yesterday morning on "The Latest Arctic Lesson." "At the end of two thousand years," he said in substance, "man is still shut out from the regions of the North Pole, and the world regards what it terms another failure, in the energy and courage which has devoted him life to this work. The almost unanimous voice of the press is raised in the cry to abandon and end, and the city ordinances allow them to charge $1 for a trip, no matter how short. Our clubs were formed to help the poor, and our services and, if not treated properly, will know where to apply for redress.

THE WORKINGMAN'S HEART TOUCHED.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

It is from the heart of a statesman who knows the people and who would have done his best which should be done for their real and lasting good.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The failure of continental America is undoubtedly due to great individuality. In the prosecution of statesmen he has always been in advance, or one step behind. In no line of statesmen have there been more men of original thought and sets forth in masterly language an iron principle of the Republican position. While his own personality shows itself in many places, the real strength of the party lies in the fact that the real strength of the party lies in the issues to be won principles rather than men.

NOT PRINCIPLES, BUT MEN.